Premium Williams – the aromatic pear bomb!

While visiting our Williams Pear producers in the summer of 2012, we discovered some incredibly lovely, sunny places where Williams pears grow on the right bank of the River Rhone in beautiful Wallis. After that discovery we decided to do something that we'd never done before: have the yellow pears picked fully-ripe in three phases and then process them.

The result is the new Williams speciality that we have created for you; produced by a special distillation method from 9 kg sweet, fully-aromatic William pears. After a 15-month seasoning period of the Williams distillate, the alcohol content was reduced to 44% vol. by adding Zugerberg spring water. This was done without filtering, so that the intense aroma of the natural fruit is retained to the full. Please note: Williams unfiltered can become slightly cloudy in cool temperatures. Ideal drinking temperature is 15-17°C.

We just have to admit that we at Etter are delighted with the elegance, the strength and the concentration of this Williams pear: a natural wealth of aromas! The luxuriously generous Williams pear taste is compelling and utterly relaxing. An incomparable, sensuous, overwhelming experience!
